INTIMATE CREAM

PRODUCT DEVELOPMENT

Claire Osterstock is an Australian Physiotherapist, with a special interest in helping women and men with the management of pelvic floor problems. Claire has been disappointed with the personal lubricants on the market. Almost all lubricants contain synthetic chemicals and preservatives, which can cause irritation of sensitive tissues. Clients would often report burning and itching after their use. So Claire, with a compounding pharmacist, created a new, all-natural, intimate cream.

OLIVE & BEE WAS BORN!

Extra Virgin Olive Oil was chosen as a base, as it is naturally antibacterial and anti-fungal, and is high in antioxidants. Olive Oil also has a low comedogenic rating, hence it is less likely to block pores than other oils such as coconut oil. The product was formulated with Beeswax as this is a natural thickener with anti-inflammatory properties. Also, neither Olive Oil or Beeswax will interfere with vaginal pH, and do not require a preservative.

WHY AN INTIMATE CREAM?

We use the term “Intimate Cream” as opposed to “Personal Lubricant”. This makes purchasing the product more comfortable, and this product has multiple uses apart from intercourse! Women can experience vaginal dryness or itching from several causes, such as menopause, breastfeeding, and skin issues. This product is safe to use as a vaginal moisturiser or for the moisturising of other sensitive mucosal tissues such as a protruding prolapse. It may be used to help insert a pessary, dilator or even a suppository. In fact it can be used anywhere on the body – we use it as a body moisturiser and heel cream! People with dry skin will find it very moisturising, and it also makes a great massage oil.
